SDSN Switzerland Sustainable Development Solutions Network Switzerland

73 NRP Sustainable Economy National Research Programme

SDSN Switzerland & NRP 73

'Transitioning towards a sustainable economy'

Online Workshop Series

WHY YOU SHOULD JOIN

In a series of online workshops, participants will debate the preliminary research findings of NRP 73. The goal of the workshops is to elaborate calls to action for policy makers, public authorities, as well as business- and civil society representatives, in order to facilitate the transition to a sustainable and fair economy in Switzerland and contribute to achieving the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

SCHEDULE

Date	Online Workshop Focus
16.06.	Sustainable construction & housing Trade-offs between innovations in construction industry and housing
18.06.	Digital innovation for sustainable agriculture The costs and benefits of precision agriculture in small-scale agriculture
25.06.	Spill-over effects of sustainable behaviour Consumption patterns, limited budgets and motivation in consumers
30.06.	Nudging and voluntary agreements in the private sector The potentials of nudging to steer company behaviour
02.07.	Towards a sustainable food system Health, environment and affordability
07.07.	Environmental monitoring Environmental impact of the supply chains of the globally connected Swiss economy

REGISTER FOR WORKSHOPS HERE.

HOW YOU CAN JOIN

The six online workshops will be held as individual Zoom sessions.

Each session will kick-off with inspiring inputs by NRP 73 researchers, with further experts weighing in.

In break-out "rooms", calls to action will be formulated and validated in a final fishbowl discussion.

PRESENTED BY

Sustainable Development Solutions Network Switzerland (SDSN) –
The network for a sustainable future in Switzerland.
&

The National Research Programme "Sustainable Economy: resource-friendly, future-oriented, innovative" (NRP 73)